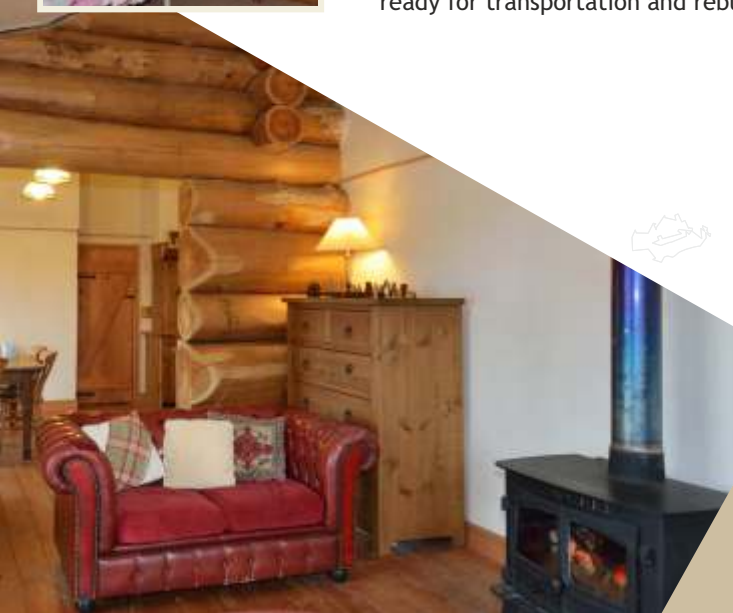
our passion

Here at Canada Wood our passion for log construction is irrepressible. We believe that it is the future of pre-fabricated, low-carbon buildings with the flexibility of tailor making your own personal dream.

Our log homes are extremely affordable and durable. A building that can take just 12 weeks to construct can last a lifetime. Each hand-crafted log home is created to your own personal specification, and because of the construction technique will give the building optimal strength.

time & care

We have our own well managed forest from which we take time and care to hand pick timber for a project. We can choose from a range of different species such as Douglas Fir, Larch and Spruce, which will be hand felled, peeled, fully scribed and constructed at Canada Wood, ready for transportation and rebuilding on site.



created to your own personal specification

At Canada Wood we will transform your dream into reality, we are the craftsmen who carve the best of what the forests can offer into a work of art that will be treasured for generations to come.

A lavish pool house doubles as luxurious guest accommodation or an outdoor office. The symmetry and design of this build adds to its elegance. With elevated views looking out on to a scenic lake it makes for a truly relaxing retreat. This build sits on block and beam foundations, we chose a matching facebrick to complement the existing main house. This cabin was constructed with shorter logs which allowed for a more intricate wall layout. Being hand crafted in a natural log allows the build to blend in perfectly yet is substantial enough to give a real sense of permanence.

A truly impressive home, both functional and aesthetically pleasing this log home shows real traditional spirit mixed with contemporary design, log homes have evolved into beautiful modern living spaces. The Norfolk is the perfect example of a unique and elaborate design which conforms to your own personal needs and expectations. The Norfolk reaches a 92% zero carbon rating, and if fitted with solar panels would achieve a 100% rating, something that we would all like to strive to achieve within the construction industry. If necessary we have a range of architects, energy consultants and structural engineers to help you to realise your dream and make it the reality of owning and living in your own log home. Our log homes can be delivered anywhere in Europe and re-erected by the same craftsmen that scribed them here in the UK, giving you a personal experience throughout the process.

The Norfolk is treated with Cutek, a product we recommend all our log homes to be treated with, it comes in a variety of colours and preserves and enhances the natural character and beauty of the wood. Cutek can be purchased through Canada Wood. When built these handcrafted log homes stand as a testament to the timeless beauty and warmth of wood.

Full scribing is an age old method of construction and has stood the test of time and continues to remain a classic form of building, bringing nature back in to architecture. These mobile log homes are hand crafted in top grade Larch or Douglas Fir, we personally select the trees which are hand felled during the winter months to reduce the amount of sap. The life span of these homes is 200 years and can be enjoyed for generation after generation, there are many ways of finishing the roof for the home; choose from shingle, turf or peg tiles although slate is the most popular. All the homes are laid out to your personal specification and are spacious inside. Standard internal log walls make for a real authentic feel but can also be broken up by using subdividing stud walls, these can help to lighten the interior leaving a rustic decor which is casual, yet romantic. These types of builds are the easiest to obtain planning permission for, especially if replacing a mobile home as they conform to the mobile home regulations. A 60ft by 22ft home will accommodate 2 or 3 bedrooms and make an ideal family home. Windows and doors are an important stage within your build, the right combination of colour, style and size will enhance your homes appearance, this is why here at Canada Wood we have our own in-house joiners who hand craft all windows and doors in a choice of timber.

A simply stunning example of what can be achieved with a log cabin. This cabin houses a restaurant that looks out on to a lake, the beautiful views can be enjoyed throughout the year with a large decked terrace area, which also allows for alfresco dining in the warmer months. As with all our log cabins they can be delivered anywhere throughout Europe and re-erected by the same team that hand scribed them in Devon.
